Mr. Mark P. Gorenberg
Chair of the Corporation
The MIT Corporation
77 Massachusetts Avenue
Room 7-203
Cambridge, MA 02139

Dear Dr. Kornbluth and Mr. Gorenberg:

The Committee on Education and the Workforce (the Committee) is investigating the Massachusetts Institute of Technology's (MIT or the Institute) response to antisemitism and its failure to protect Jewish students. We have grave concerns regarding the inadequacy of MIT's response to antisemitism on its campus.

In testimony before the Committee on December 5, 2023, Dr. Kornbluth made numerous statements that further called into question the Institute's willingness to address antisemitism seriously, including failing to state unequivocally that calling for the genocide of Jews would violate MIT's code of conduct and community standards.¹ Despite widespread public criticism of Dr. Kornbluth's testimony, the MIT Corporation issued an endorsement, writing that Dr. Kornbluth "has done excellent work in leading our community, including in addressing antisemitism, Islamophobia, and other forms of hate, all of which we reject utterly at MIT. She has our full and unreserved support.”²

The MIT Corporation’s assessment stands at odds with the experiences of many Jewish MIT students. A survey of 75 Jewish students found that 59 percent had experienced antisemitism since October 7, and 73 percent did not feel comfortable publicly being Jewish, Israeli, or supportive of Israel on MIT’s campus.³ Further, 70 percent had changed their behavior (such as no longer wearing a kippah or Star of David) to minimize attention from antisemitic and anti-Israel individuals.⁴ While 89 percent of Jewish MIT students surveyed felt “very safe” on campus pre-October 7, only 11 percent did following the attacks.⁵ When asked to rate whether “the MIT administration’s actions have been adequate to help you feel safer on MIT’s campus” on a scale of one (not at all) to five (completely), 74 percent of students chose one or two.⁶

In a December 2023 statement to the Committee, MIT Israel Alliance President Talia Khan decried the MIT administration’s response to campus antisemitism, writing, “President Kornbluth has watched as violent hatred infects, in broad daylight, an institution which is looked to as a beacon of enlightenment. This failure by the MIT administration to protect Jewish students must not be regarded simply as inaction, but rather as a feckless, cowardly, hypocritical, and entirely deliberate choice to remain silent.”⁷ Khan further stated that Kornbluth told her directly in a private meeting that she could not apply MIT’s rules equally due to fears of losing faculty support.⁸ That same month, MIT Lecturer Mauricio Karchmer, who taught over 65 percent of each annual MIT undergraduate class in his Introduction to Algorithms course, resigned because he “could no longer deal with the pervasive antisemitism on MIT’s campus,” also citing the failure of MIT’s leadership to address this epidemic of hatred and protect Jewish students, faculty, and staff.⁹

This pervasive antisemitism is exemplified by numerous deeply troubling incidents and developments at MIT, including the following:

- MIT’s leadership has failed to condemn anti-Israel campus groups’ endorsement of Hamas’ terrorism against Israel. The day after the October 7, 2023, terrorist attack, Palestine @ MIT and MIT Coalition Against Apartheid (CAA) issued a statement that they “hold the Israeli regime responsible for all unfolding violence” and “affirm the right of all occupied peoples to resist oppression and colonization.”¹⁰

- An advisory group of Jewish faculty members for MIT’s Standing Together Against Hate (STAH) initiative disbanded following STAH’s announcement of a lecture series including an antisemitic speaker, noting in a statement that they “had no input to the published program” and were not given the opportunity to review it in advance.¹¹ MIT launched STAH, led by Chancellor Melissa Nobles, with the stated aim of addressing antisemitism and other forms of hate.¹² As part of a STAH Dialogue Across Differences speaker series, MIT invited Dalia Mogahed, who has endorsed Hamas’ terrorist attack on Israel, to lecture on Islamophobia. Mogahed wrote that “resistance, including struggle against a colonial occupation force, is not only acknowledged under international law but explicitly endorsed” and that [a]s an occupied population, Palestinians inherently possess the right to resist.”¹³ The four-lecture series consists of two lectures on Islamophobia and anti-Palestinian racism respectively, but only one on antisemitism.
- CAA has disrupted classes, harassed Jewish students, promoted violence, and violated other MIT rules in the course of conducting anti-Israel demonstrations and other activities including:
 - On October 23, 2023, CAA staged a class walkout in which members disrupted multiple courses, including Linear Algebra and Introduction to Solid-State Chemistry among others, with chants of “Free Palestine” inside classrooms mid-lecture.¹⁴
 - On November 2, 2023, CAA entered the MIT International Science and Technology Initiatives (MISTI) office to protest the MISTI-Israel program, harassing staff and using a megaphone to chant hateful slogans, including “from the river to the sea.”¹⁵

- On November 9, 2023, the 85th anniversary of the Kristallnacht pogrom, CAA conducted a blockade of Lobby 7, the lobby of MIT's main entrance, physically preventing students from attending classes.¹⁶ MIT Hillel described the protest as being “in clear violation of MIT policy against indoor protesting and actively prevent[ing] students from having a safe and peaceful learning environment on campus” and recommended Jewish students avoid engaging protestors for their own “physical safety and wellbeing.”¹⁷ Indeed, an anti-Israel protestor shoved a Jewish student during the blockade.¹⁸ While MIT officials warned student protestors they would be suspended if they did not disperse, offending students ultimately received only “non-academic suspensions” that allowed them to continue their studies, with President Kornbluth citing potential visa consequences for foreign students as a reason for the weaker punishment.¹⁹ After the incident, a social media post, tagging MIT, offered an $800 bounty for identifying a Jewish student labeled as a “Zionist extremist” who was involved in an altercation at the blockade.²⁰
- On November 12, 2023, CAA co-sponsored a protest which blocked Massachusetts Avenue, a primary route to MIT on which its main entrance is located, and entrances to Lobby 7, while the protestors were chanting hateful slogans such as “there is only one solution: Intifada” and making statements including “we have to shake history with our own two hands” and “resistance requires sacrifice.”²¹
- On February 12, 2024, CAA conducted another protest in Lobby 7 in violation of multiple MIT rules, engaging in hateful chants including “from the river to the sea.”²²

- According to MIT Hillel, the Institute's Jewish campus center, on December 4, 2023, "an individual from outside the MIT community gained entry to [the MIT Hillel building] and verbally yelled at students in the Hillel Lounge, accusing them of being Mossad and electronically removing data from his phone; after he left the building he stuck up his middle finger from outside the window."²³ The individual returned to MIT Hillel on December 6 and, "while unable to enter the building, he then proceeded to urinate at the window; one of the students present confronted him outside and again unclear claims about the Mossad were made."²⁴
- Multiple MIT faculty and staff have made antisemitic remarks and justified Palestinian terrorism, including:
 - MIT Postdoctoral Associate Afif Aqrabawi has made numerous virulently antisemitic statements on social media, including: "Zionism is a mental illness,"²⁵ "[d]ear ZioNazis of Israel, particularly those supporting this genocide, I hope you never find peace and comfort in life... You are all barbaric lunatics... Yes, this is hateful language"²⁶; "it is more clear than ever that Israel has no future in this world"²⁷; "Zionists not only steal our lands, food, and culture, but our dead bodies as well for organ harvesting"²⁸; "[t]here's no need for such evil to infect our world, for what?! complaint regarding Aqrawabi's antisemitic social media posts by denying their blatantly antisemitic nature. The DEIJ representative warned the complainant, "I would be very cautious before accusing any one of our colleagues, staff, or trainees of hate speech" and chastised the complainant for identifying it as a classic blood libel trope.³⁴

- MIT Professor of Linguistics Michel DeGraff made multiple antisemitic, anti-Israel social media posts, writing, "[h]ere's the historical context of GENOCIDE in [Palestine]: Zionism [Israel] is a racist anti-Judaism movement fueling antisemitism from the river to the sea, from Gaza to @MIT"³⁵ and "Baby Jesus (a Palestinian Jew) is under the rubble of Israel's Zionist violence, so Christmas in Bethlehem has been cancelled."³⁶ DeGraff also authored an anti-Israel MIT Faculty Newsletter titled, "Standing Together Against Hate: From the River to the Sea, From Gaza to MIT."³⁷
- MIT's Women and Gender Studies Program, Libraries, Center for International Studies, and Anthropology Department co-hosted an event called "Allyship, Art, and Apartheid: A Conversation with Palestinian Activists," in which one of the speakers was the notorious antisemitic writer Mohammed El-Kurd, who has accused Zionists of having "an unquenchable thirst for Palestinian blood."³⁸
- MIT's Women and Gender Studies Program co-hosted an Independent Activities Period book club with MIT's Coalition for Palestine, reading "They Called Me a Lioness" by Ahed Tamimi, a radical Palestinian activist who threatened Jewish settlers in a social media post, writing, "[w]e will slaughter you and you will say that what Hitler did to you was a joke, we will drink your blood and eat your

- According to the MIT Israel Alliance, at a November 15, 2023, event titled “Planetary Health: Indigenous Land, Peoples, and Bodies,” MIT Interfaith Chaplain Nina Lytton repeatedly stated that Palestinians are being “wrongfully subjugated and oppressed by racist white European colonizers.”⁴⁰
- MIT Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Belonging officer Sophia Hasenfus liked extreme anti-Israel social media posts, including one stating “Israel doesn’t have a right to exist, it’s an illegitimate settler-colony like the US.”⁴¹

Amid heightened scrutiny of the proliferation of antisemitism on its campus, MIT eventually suspended CAA for violating the Institute’s rules on February 13, 2024.⁴² However, MIT appears not to be enforcing this suspension. CAA has continued to staff a table in campus areas designated for student organizations in violation of its suspension.⁴³ Moreover, MIT honored a CAA student activist who had publicly supported Hamas’ October 7 attack with a speaking role at a February 17 MLK Celebration Gala. The CAA student activist then used his speech to invite attendees to the stage and conduct an anti-Israel protest at the Gala as President Kornbluth looked on in silence.⁴⁴ On March 3, CAA members and supporters again staged a protest blocking MIT’s main entrance and chanting hateful slogans including, “long live the Intifada.”⁴⁵

MIT has cited its supposed commitment to free speech as limiting its ability to take action against antisemitism on its campus.⁴⁶ However, the Institute has demonstrated a clear double standard in how it has tolerated antisemitic harassment and intimidation by acting to suppress and penalize expression it deemed problematic. In October 2021, MIT’s Earth and Planetary Sciences Department cancelled University of Chicago geophysicist Dorian Abbott’s planned John Carlson Lecture over Abbott’s views on diversity, equity, and inclusion.⁴⁷ Former U.S. Secretary of State Mike Pompeo has alleged that MIT also cancelled a planned speech on China when he was Secretary. Pompeo states that MIT's then-President told him directly that the speech could not proceed due to the risk of offending Chinese students.⁴⁸

MIT students have reported similar double standards in the enforcement of Institute rules. Khan states that six days after she placed Israeli flags and posters that said "No Excuse for Hate" and "We Stand With Israel" in her office, the Institute created a new banner rule and she was forced to take them down. However, other banners in office windows, including ones stating "Black Lives Matter," have been allowed to remain.⁴⁹

MIT's hypocrisy and selective enforcement of Institute rules, as outlined above, exposes the intellectual and moral bankruptcy of its leadership's rationalizations for their inaction towards antisemitism on campus.

relating to recruitment, admission, enrollment, and retention of Jewish students.⁵⁰

Congress' oversight powers are derived from the U.S. Constitution and have been repeatedly affirmed by the United States Supreme Court.⁵¹ Under House Rule X, the Committee has legislative and oversight jurisdiction over "education or labor generally."⁵²

Please see the attached instructions for relevant definitions and other directions for the production of documents. This request encompasses responsive materials in the possession of not only MIT faculty, staff, students, and other affiliates, but also individual members of the MIT Corporation. The request also extends to any informal communications such as text or other electronic messages. We expect that this request will be conveyed promptly to all parties who would be reasonably expected to have responsive materials.

If you have any questions about this request, please contact Ari Wisch of the Committee staff at 202-225-4527 or ari.wisch@mail.house.gov.

Sincerely,

Virginia Foxx
Chairwoman
Committee on Education and the Workforce

⁵⁰ For the avoidance of doubt, the Committee is not seeking the application materials of individual applicants and students.
